A Ki-Pataw Shan-Tseng-Chi Park

Known as the Biei and Furano of Taiwan, Ki-Pataw Shan-Tseng-Chi Park allows you to enjoy the view of a rainbow-colored sea of flowers while soaking in the hot spring in Beitou. The park boasts a number of installation art pieces, including a piano, three-dimensional notes, Dutch windmills, reindeer and mushrooms, filling the whole park with vitality.

- Beitou Stop
- No. 45, Xiushan Road, Beitou District, Taipei City
- Best Blossoms: Mid-January to Late February

B Thermal Valley

Located next to Beitou Hot Spring Park, which is one of the sources of Beitou Hot Springs and has the highest water temperature in the Datun Mountain area. It is also known as "Hell Valley" and offers the scenery of sulfuric vapor, earning its nickname "Mineral Spring Jade Mist." It was once named one of the twelve most iconic scenic spots during the Japanese Occupation Period. Visitors can take a stroll along the newly constructed lakeside trail or enjoy foot bathing in the vapor-shrouded channel.

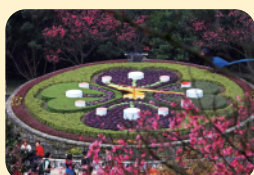

- Beitou Park
- Zhongshan Rd., Beitou Dist., Taipei City
- Weekdays 09:00-17:00 (Extended to 18:00 during summer from May 15th to September 14th)
- Closed on Mondays

C Yangming Park

The photogenic landmark Flower Clock is located in Yangming Park and is close to the Datun Waterfall area. Here, you can admire volcanic landscape features such as sulfur vents and hot springs. The park is filled with various flowers such as plum blossoms, cherry blossoms, and azaleas, earning it the nickname "Taipei's Backyard." Each season brings a different kind of charm, whether it's spring flower viewing, summer retreat, autumn maple appreciation, or winter hot spring relaxation. No matter how many times you visit, there's always something new to discover.

- Hushan Rd. Sec. 2
- No. 26, Sec. 2, Hushan Rd., Beitou Dist., Taipei City

D Xiaoyin Pond Waterfall

The small sulphur creek flows down the gap on the rocks to form a waterfall, covering the stones with milky white sulphur deposits. The milky white hue is the result of the rich sulfur content in the water, but sometimes it turns into a dreamy Tiffany blue with the smell of sulfur in the air. Surrounded by verdant trees, this tranquil area resembles a beautiful picture!

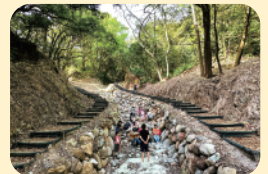

- Yangming Park Visitor Center
- Section 1, Hushan Road, Beitou District, Taipei City (by the Yangmingshan Fountain).

E Ziming Creek Trail

Newly completed in 2023, Ziming Creek Trail is located next to Yangming Academy House. It features a mulch pathway and gently sloping steps, making it suitable for people of all ages. Ziming Creek is the source of the Yangmingshan White Sulfur Springs and runs between the forest trails. Visitors pass by two natural hot springs along the way and catch a whiff of the strong sulfur smell occasionally. The romantic misty scenery created by the steam is dreamlike as if stepping into a wonderland.

- Yangming Academy House
- Zhongxing Rd., Beitou Dist., Taipei City

F Taipei Grand Trail Section 2: Erziping to Xiaoyoukeng

"The Taipei Grand Trail is a once-in-a-lifetime experience" was the slogan for this trail. Planned by the Geotechnical Engineering Office, Public Works Department, Taipei City Government, the second segment begins at Erziping and follows along Datunshan to the Xiaoyoukeng Visitor Center. Follow the Dinghu Loop Trail and connect to Yangming Creekside Trail to arrive at the Xiaoyoukeng Visitor Center.

G Beitou Hot Spring Museum

Beitou Hot Spring Museum, formerly the Beitou Public Bathhouse, was a popular hot spring bathhouse during Japanese colonization. With support from local advocates, this historic building was preserved and transformed into the museum it is today. The British-Japanese fusion architecture features traditional Japanese wooden structure with British red brick walls, with tatami floor mats for seating. The Roman style large bath surrounded by a round colonnade is one of the highlight of the tour.

- Beitou Park
- No. 2, Zhongshan Rd., Beitou Dist., Taipei City
- Tuesdays to Sundays
10:00-18:00 (last entry at 17:45)
- Closed on Mondays

H Beitou Heart Village

The Heart Village was designated as a cultural heritage site in 2011 due to its historic significance. It is the only medic village with hot springs in Taiwan, and one of the few intact military villages in Taipei City. Within the village there are architecture of different areas that tell the unique history of Beitou's hot spring culture and lifestyle.

- Xinmin Junior High School
- No. 9, Ln. 22, Xinmin Rd., Beitou Dist., Taipei City
- Tuesday to Sunday
10:00-18:00
- Closed on Mondays

I Grass Mountain Chateau

During the Japanese Occupation Period, it served as a guesthouse for the Taiwan Sugar Corporation and later became Taiwan's first presidential residence. The classical Japanese architecture is an elegant gem full of culture and history, and one of the most highly recommended attractions and restaurants in the city.

- Yangming Parking Tower (Grass Mountain Chateau)
- No. 89, Hudi Rd., Beitou Dist., Taipei City

Explore a Hidden Gem

J Xingyi Bridge Lover Waterfall

Xingyi Bridge Lover Waterfall, located near Sulfur Valley, is hidden beside Xingyi Bridge. The entrance is surrounded by lush trees, and the water flows down the rock wall with a soothing sound, making it seem as if you are stepping into a blissful wonderland. After visiting the waterfall, travelers can enjoy beautiful views of the Sulfur Valley from the observation deck or take a walk along the scenic trail to Sulfur Valley.

- Datong House
- Xingyi Rd., Beitou Dist., Taipei City

K Datun Falls

Starting from Yangming Park Flower Clock, the gushing sound of the waterfall is soon heard. The 3-story tall Datun Waterfall has a water pipe bridge installed above it, which was the first drinking water supply system in Taiwan. The waterfall trail runs alongside the stream, passing through a series of waterfalls of various sizes and levels, offering a peaceful and fascinating experience as if you were in a magical land.

- Yangming Park Visitor Center
- Zhongxing Rd., Beitou Dist., Taipei City

L Zhuzihu Black Forest

Zhuzihu Black Forest is a renowned spot for wedding photoshoots in the region, with two "echoing hearts" formed by many stones as one of the must-have backdrops. The fallen trees in the forest also bring an artistic quality to the photos. Whether the sun is shining through the trees or the forest is covered with dreamlike mist, it is the perfect location for surprise and romance.
